

The Cryptocurrency based platform is being set up for freelancers: FLDBCoin

A project is being prepared to make life easier for freelancers. A freelancer platform that will work entirely with cryptocurrency (FLDBcoin).

STRANRAER, UNITED KINGDOM, January 8, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The crises is being accompanied by the emergence of new technologies that can address the weaknesses in the current financial system. COVID-19 pandemic affects all aspects of life, including personal spending, global economy and also education. Furthermore; Financial institutions are also encouraged to look for more resilient and transparent token-based solutions.

As a result of the pandemic, the entire world has become accustomed to working distancely. As a result, everyone recognized the benefits of working at home for another country.

There are different types of freelancer working systems available nowadays. These platforms have some flaws also.

FLDBcoin was created to address and solve these issues. The most serious issue is exorbitant commission rates, which can reach upto 20%. These commission rates will be reduced to less than 2% with FLDBcoin.

Another issue that freelancers encounter is the payment infrastructure. It is possible to send and receive payments anywhere in the globe by FLDBCoin. FLDBCoin is the abbreviation for FreeLancer DataBase. The project is now in its initial coin offering (ICO) phase, and its website is accepting investments. It is currently in its 5th phase and has been receiving a lot of interest.

When the project is launched, it is preparing to work with a large number of freelancers. The website is available in six different languages, which are English, Spanish, French, Russian, Chinese, and Turkish. Language selections are prioritized based on the level of interest indicated by countries during the ICO's early phases.

People are wondering how much money people/investors would have now if they bought Bitcoin for $100 in 2010? Let's tell you! It would now cost approximately $4 million.

According to projections, some experts believe this figure will be ten times higher in 2025 than it is presently. Investing in the crypto realm presents numerous opportunities. As a result, it generates solutions to genuine problems, such as FLDBcoin, which will be highly valued in the future.

The world is changing at an accelerating pace every day, and there are many opportunities for technological advancements and disruptive businesses. FLDBcoin could be an important investment opportunity for freelancers and investors. Early Make staged investments and don't miss this opportunity.

How to get FLDBcoin?

Once logged in through the site membership panel, you can easily make purchases. Payer Coinpayments and Coinbase are used as its structure. FLDBcoin vs USDT, LTC, BNB and TRX you can receive. It is currently in phase 5 and costs $0.0085. There are details on the website video available.
