

Certain Academic Institutions Alleged To Have Conspired To Overcharge Students – Kehoe Law Firm, P.C. Investigating.

Antitrust Investigation To Determine Whether Certain Academic Institutions Participated In A Price-Fixing Cartel

PHILADELPHIA, PA, USA, January 10, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Kehoe Law Firm, P.C. is investigating potential antitrust claims on behalf of students who attended certain educational institutions to determine whether those institutions participated in a price-fixing cartel designed to reduce or eliminate financial aid as a source of competition, and that artificially inflated the net price of attendance for students receiving financial aid.

Kehoe Law Firm, P.C.

On January 9, 2022, a class action lawsuit was filed (1:22-cv-00125) in United States District Court, Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, under Section 1 of the Sherman Act against Brown University ("Brown"), California Institute of Technology ("CalTech"), University of Chicago ("Chicago"), The Trustees of Columbia University in the City of New York ("Columbia"), Cornell University ("Cornell"), Trustees of Dartmouth College ("Dartmouth"), Duke University ("Duke"), Emory University ("Emory"), Georgetown University ("Georgetown"), Massachusetts Institute of Technology ("MIT"), Northwestern University ("Northwestern"), University of Notre Dame du Lac ("Notre Dame"), The Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania ("Penn"), William Marsh Rice University ("Rice"), Vanderbilt University ("Vanderbilt"), and Yale University ("Yale") (collectively, "Defendants").

According to the complaint, the Defendants ". . . participated in a price-fixing cartel that is designed to reduce or eliminate financial aid as a locus of competition, and that in fact has artificially inflated the net price of attendance for students receiving financial aid."
