The wireless headset market is impacted significantly by COVID-19, as China is the major supplier of electronic products.”

Shankar Bhandalkar

Technology advancement, increase in consumer disposable income, rise in number of smartphone users, and inclination of consumer toward luxury lifestyle escalate the demand for wireless stereo headset. The rise in adoption of specific headsets in the avenues such as gyms and call centers is expected to boost the industry in the coming years.

Wireless over wired operating advantage has affected headphone manufacturers around the globe. Highly advanced features, slimmer design, and the demand for value-added features are expected to fuel the demand for wireless headsets. High cost of the headsets facilitates the growth of the headset market but the occurrence of local market vendors and their low price offerings is expected to restrain the growth of the Wireless headset market.

Due to the increase in demand for low-cost quality headsets in countries like India and China, the Asia-Pacific region is the key market for headsets over the coming years. The availability of low-cost regional manufacturers' products positively impacts the local market growth. This growth in the Asia-Pacific region can be driven by growing number of smartphone users in this region and the high adoption of innovative technologies. Because of its trouble-free nature, the rise in inclination of consumer toward wireless products boosts the growth of wireless technology.
