years the company developed relationships in our current publishing business and continues to grow into other segments of the industry, says publisher Bell, coloring books in general have been on steady growth curve for decades. We have the capability of producing print on demand services for all customers.

"Over the years as our company published thousands of soft cover, glossy and laminate books developing into opportunities to help people with their biographies, stories

, educational books and more in hard back or case bound products. Moving along we invested in machinery that increases service to include hardback book binding including full color story books. This includes specialty book products, print on demand, full color story books, hard back covers. If we can't do it all in house, one of our publishing partners can," stated Wayne Bell.
