2500+ brand partners for over a decade. The recently awarded “America’s fastest-growing companies, 2021” by Financial Times and “Top Shop” on Faire, Ergode is currently focussing to strengthen its brand aggregation arm with top-notch technical and digital marketing skills.

In alignment with their business objectives, Ergode has recently opened its sixth office in Bellandur, Bangalore.

On the inauguration of the Bangalore office, Ergode founder CEO Rupesh Sanghvi said, “This is a part of our strategic decision that aligns with our growth plan by attracting fresh and smart minds from the ‘Silicon Valley of India.’ We are aiming to build our team of tech mavericks and marketing wizards from the city that has helped iconic brands gain superior leverage. We find ourselves in the neighbourhood of the likes and strongly believe that our Bangalore office will be successful in roping in the right kind of talent we need to grow together as a brand aggregator.”

“We have always been a company with big dreams with innovative approaches to transform them into reality,” added Rupesh. To layout his plans, he said, “India is currently the melting pot of next-generation skill sets. Hence, it makes sense to set up an operation for the nex-gen industry in this country. As a result, when it comes to deciding where we wish to set up shop for our e-commerce business, India becomes the default choice.” “Now with our presence in Bangalore, we believe we are making all the right moves to get our wheel of change moving in the direction we have planned to grow," he added.
