About Home Improvement Quotes

Home Improvement Quotes from Price Engines Ltd. was formed in 2000 and pioneered the provision of online home improvement quotations. This allows homeowners to research home improvement projects and get an instant online guideline quotation for their dream home improvement before seeing or speaking to a salesman.

Home Improvement Quotes operates dozens of websites that provide this service - including WindowQuoter.co.uk. Since June 2000 Price Engines has provided over 2 million home improvement quotations and is responsible for, on average, around one major home improvement on every street in the UK!

Home Enhancing Plastics has been a regular and is a trusted installer for Home Improvement Quotes and gets exceptional reviews. We're looking forward to the next 3000 happy homeowners!"

WindowQuoter was the first online cost calculator available in the UK, and we've been an industry front runner ever since. And now we've evolved our business to include other home improvements and help even more homeowners across the country.

The Home Improvement Quotes SafeAddress system ensures homeowner data is safe. We always ask for explicit permission before passing any information along to companies, and even then the information we pass along is masked. Consumers' phone numbers and email address are hidden behind a code.

This means that all data is safe until you choose to share it with the trusted companies of your choice.
