EDMONTON, ALBERTA, CANADA, January 17, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Inline Group Inc. announces its "Inline Group's Investing in the Future Bursary," a $50,000 commitment for indigenous youth studying in Civil Engineering post-secondary programs. One bursary of $5,000 a year will be paid over ten years to ten different students in total who are attending Canadian post-secondary institutions and demonstrate financial need. Inline Group is a geotechnical engineering, materials testing, and surveying firm headquartered in Edmonton, Alberta, with operations Canada-wide.

"We are proud to be investing in the futures of indigenous youth," says Inline's Co-Founder and President, Adam Temple. "As part of our commitment to reconciliation, we are devoted to providing indigenous peoples with the opportunity to work in the civil engineering industry. This bursary program is a testament to this commitment."

Inline is committed to indigenous communities and their members, providing benefits through a range of programs. These include Canada-wide Joint Venture Partnerships with First Nations in proximity to projects, CCAB PAR program commitment, and other initiatives.

The Charity partner executing the bursary program is Indspire, an Indigenous national charity that invests in the education of First Nations, Inuit, and Métis people. Its Building Brighter Futures: Bursaries, Scholarships, and Awards program opens doors through education for Indigenous students; since 2004, Indspire has provided over $153 million in financial support through more than 49,000 bursaries, scholarships and awards to First Nations, Inuit and Métis students. Through a wide array of partnerships with various stakeholders, both Indigenous and non-Indigenous, Indspire effectively supports the success of Indigenous students.
