

A major corporate trainer has created and implemented a foundations of project management workshop

Addison Solutions Academy assists businesses and individuals with learning Project Management Skills

MARYLAND, UNITED STATES, November 1, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Addison Solutions Academy is pleased to provide Project Management Fundamentals, a cutting-edge corporate training workshop. This one-day training will teach all the most prevalent aspects of project management, allowing a participant to get started on this journey. The workshop will also teach participants how to approach project management and recognize it as a critical component of modern work.

Participants in the workshop will gain insights into crucial areas such as defining projects, defining project management, learning the various phases of a project's life cycle, and prioritizing projects. Similarly, Addison Solutions Academy's expert trainers will lead participants through conceptualizing projects using goal and vision statements, learning to use project planning tools, and creating a statement of work, among other important skills. As Addison Solutions Academy states, "it's wrong to think that project management is only for construction engineers or military logistics experts. In the modern workforce, in addition to the ordinary duties and responsibilities provided to you, it is almost inevitable that you will also have to work on extra responsibilities under both time and budget constraints." Addison Solutions Academy has created an ideal introduction to the fundamentals of project management based on this expertise and backed by the firm's specific abilities.
