Summit Classical School opened in 2019 offering K5 through third grade. A new grade has been added each subsequent year. Now, in the 2022-23 school year, the school is offering kindergarten through 6th grade.

"You guys are AMAZING," writes J. Skidmore, a Summit parent. "I don't know what we would have done if we didn't find your school. It's literally transformed our son."

Classical education is based on a system known as the trivium with three stages. The early years, grades one through four, called the Grammar Stage, are spent absorbing and memorizing information, as young minds are meant to. From fifth grade to high school is the Logic Stage. This is when children are ready to understand the rules of things like language, mathematics, and more. The final stage, the Rhetoric Stage, in high school, is when students learn to apply what they've learned to speak with force and originality. Using the information from the Grammar Stage and the understanding of the rules of the Logic Stage, students can find the branch of knowledge that best suits them and use all they've learned to succeed.

Open enrollment ends February 1 for this outstanding, free educational opportunity. Parents and guardians are encouraged to go to <https://summitclassicalschool.com/admissions/> and enroll their students.

"A positive connection between home and school is always key to success," said Principal Mary Greene Thomasson.

Summit Classical School is a family-oriented school that provides a positive, nurturing environment where children can thrive. They offer rigorous academic challenges along with individual attention which helps their scholars reach their full potential. Their classical curriculum is coherent, cumulative, and content-specific, focusing on both knowledge and thinking skills.
