In my three decades as a senior technologist, business consultant, Reiki Master Healer and transformational life coach, the number one thing my clients want is to use a combination of holistic, pragmatic, and scientifically based methods and tools to help them be free of their pain, issues, and life predicaments as quickly, effectively and as painlessly as possible."

His work has changed the lives of his clients by helping them get unstuck, clarify and align their daily actions with their hierarchy of values to their daily lives, build iconic ethical businesses, transform team dynamics, improve organisational culture sales, as well as assist people with bringing into their lives co-loving relationships, achieve work-life balance, and find inner peace and attain ultimate health and happiness.
