So here's an interesting update (after triple-checking these numbers) – these Laravel Development Solutions offer amazing services, and have an interesting team. They deserve a lion's share of the plaudits for reels of impressive statistics.

They personify developers with relevant experience in the technologies - authentication, routing, sessions, caching, ORM (Object Relational Mapping), CSRF (cross-site request forgery) tokens, and enabling browser-based error reporting, Blade Templating Engine, combine multiple templates with a Data Model, instead of the leetcode junkies who spend 8 hours a day studying random data structures and algorithmic problems.
