Surging demand for sodium chlorite in water treatment plants is a significant factor influencing the market growth.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES,
January 24, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ --

The global sodium chlorite market is forecasted to reach USD 323.2 Million by 2027, according to a new report by Reports and Data. The sodium chlorite market is observing high growth attributed to its increasing application in water treatment. Sodium chloride leads to the generation of chlorine dioxide, a powerful oxidant whose selective reactivity enables it to be beneficial in various water treating applications where several oxidants, including chlorine, are found to be inappropriate. Chlorine dioxide is an exceptionally effective disinfecting agent and germicide, and on a mass dosage basis, it is either equivalent to or better than chlorine. Also, chlorine dioxide is economical and effective in disinfection and preoxidation.

Sodium chlorite solutions find usage in disinfecting several surface types in medical labs, hospitals, nursing homes, and doctors' chambers to contain the infection spread among patients, occupants, and workers. Further, sodium chlorite is garnering significant traction as a health supplement and treating several diseases, comprising common cold, malaria, arthritis, cancer, HIV, and hepatitis.

Key participants include Airedale Chemical Company Limited, Debyesci, Sigma-Aldrich Co. LLC, Tractus Company Limited, Alfa Aesar, Shandong Gaomi Gaoyuan Chemical Industry Co., Ltd., E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, Finetech Industry Limited, Nanjing Kaimubo Pharmatech Company Limited, and American Elements, among others.

The COVID-19 impact:

The COVID-19 pandemic is having a significant impact on the sodium chlorite industry. Demand for the product is suffering severe shocks across various end-use markets, worldwide supply chains are upset, and the competitive order of manufacturers/producers has witnessed a change. The shortage of demand has fast-tracked the global chemical sector into an oversupply situation. Movement restrictions appear to be a direct and immediate effect, and once the compulsory social distancing ends, it is expected things would get back to normal conditions.

Reports And Data

Further key findings from the report suggest

Larger sodium chlorite concentrations normally finds usage in industrial applications, including bleaching & stripping in the pulp and paper industry.

Sodium chlorite is an exceptional bleaching agent for in textiles comprising cotton bast fibers (such as hemp, jute, flax, and ramie), and man-made fibers,

The medical end-use is likely to grow at a significant rate in the forecast period. Sodium chlorite received approval in the EU as an orphan drug for treating ALS (amyotrophic lateral sclerosis).

The market in the Asia Pacific region dominated the market in 2019 due to the growth of the pulp & paper and textile industry. Surging demand for sodium chlorite in the treatment of wastewater in nations including India, China, Japan, and Indonesia in the region is also causative of the high market demand. Besides, the easy availability of raw materials drives the growth of the APAC region's sodium chlorite industry.
