Giving back is made easier because our technology platform and service has been embraced by thousands of dental offices and tens of thousands of dental assistants and hygienists, across North America."

Dr. James Younger , CEO and Founder of TempStars

America's fastest-growing and top-rated dental temping and hiring service, is doing more than just bringing its top-tier dental temping service to the United States.

The Canadian company is also helping those less fortunate in America, recently making donations to six different food banks:

"Its part of TempStars' culture to give back and help others," said Dr. James Younger, the CEO and founder of TempStars. "Those initiatives are made easier by the fact that our technology platform and service has been embraced by thousands of dental offices and tens of thousands of dental assistants and hygienists, across North America."

The aforementioned food banks are not the only charities that TempStars. Last fall, the company made donations to four other charities related to the dental industry. It also regularly funds scholarships at hygienist colleges.

TempStars' philanthropic initiative come just as the company boldly expands into the United States, announcing last year that it was setting up operations in Boston, Chicago, Phoenix, Nashville and the state of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Younger promises that this is just the beginning of the company's charitable donations as well as its expansion in the U.S.

"Based on the response in 2021, we will advance confidently into other U.S. markets in 2022," he said. "This is just the beginning."

About TempStars
