

Gains in polycarbonate sheets market will remain concentrated in Asia Pacific through 2029

Polycarbonate Sheets Gaining Preference over Glass and Acrylic; Lightweight Attributes Sought-after in Automotive Industry: FMI

JUMEIRAH LAKES TOWERS, DUBAI, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES, January 25, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Innovation in plastic technologies is a key contributor towards growth of the polycarbonate sheets market. Increasing adoption of the material in building and construction projects further supports market growth.

The global polycarbonate sheets market had a valuation of US$ 1.5 Bn in 2018, as disclosed by a new report of Future Market Insights (FMI). Leading market players are banking on a higher adoption rate as a preferred thermoplastic material, driven by performance characteristics such as dimensional stability, thermal resistance, optical clarity, and high impact resistance.

“Leading polycarbonate sheet manufacturers are investing in bolstering their supply chain across Asia Pacific to leverage rising demand,” states the FMI report.

Polycarbonate Sheets Market: Key Findings

The automotive components sector will display high growth; driven by the demand for eco-friendly materials and low weight components.

Cladding and roofing applications will exhibit high demand through 2029.

Adoption in the security screening sector will generate lucrative opportunities, driven by an upsurge in connectivity advancements.

Market gains will be concentrated in Asia Pacific.

Polycarbonate Sheets Market: Key Driving Factors

Demand for polycarbonate sheets as an alternative to glass and acrylics is a key growth driver.

Superior physical properties associated with polycarbonate sheets are fueling market growth.

Lower carbon emission rates are a major influencer supporting production and adoption.

Lower prices, smoother finish, and minimal maintenance costs in end-use applications are major drivers for global demand.

Polycarbonate Sheets Market – Key Restraints

Fluctuations in the prices of raw materials will be a key restraint to market growth during the projection period.

Competition Landscape of Polycarbonate Sheets Market

Some of the key players in the global polycarbonate sheets landscape that are covered in this study include, but are not limited to, Palram Industries, SABIC, Excelite, Trinseo, 3A Composites, Spartech, Arla Plast, Covestro, Mitsubishi Gas Chemical, Gallina India, and Evonik Industries. Leading manufacturers remain focused innovations for manufacturing processes. Manufacturers are investing R&D activities, mergers and acquisitions, to fix up a strong foundation in the global polycarbonate sheets market.

More About the Report

This Future Market Insights study of 300 pages offers actionable insights on the polycarbonate sheets market. The market analysis is based on type (solid, multiwall, and corrugated), end use (building & construction, automotive, electrical & electronics) across five regions (Latin America, North America, Europe, Asia Pacific, and MEA).
