“We are a visual society, and patients frequently ask me to show them what is achievable when it comes to hair loss,” explained Miguel Canales, MD. "Individual results can vary, but in general, before and after images of prior patients can set clear expectations for hair transplant surgery."

Updated before and after hair transplant images for Silicon Valley Hair Institute are available for review at <https://siliconvalleyhairinstitute.com/before-after/>. On the website, Bay Area residents can browse the hair restoration process by reviewing before and after hair transplant experiences for clinic patients. Images showing both mild and more pronounced hair loss experiences are depicted on the web page. Depictions of receding hairlines and thicker hair for both men and women may help set expectations for hair loss surgery.

Dr. Miguel Canales, a pioneer of the cutting-edge ARTAS hair transplant robot, can help individuals learn about several options for hair loss problems, including the following: hair transplant surgery, micro pigmentation and hair loss protocols, and treatments. Friendly, professional clinic staff can assist people and review financial options for an affordable hair transplant experience. The clinic serves Bay Area cities including Atherton, Palo Alto, San Jose, Mountain View, Menlo Park, and Los Altos. Residents can reach out to Dr. Canales for a private consultation at <https://siliconvalleyhairinstitute.com/virtual/>. Persons with skincare issues can check out the sister website at <https://svaestheticderm.com/>.

BEFORE AND AFTER IMAGES MAY REVEAL THE POTENTIAL EFFECTIVENESS OF HAIR TRANSPLANT SURGERY IN THE BAY AREA

Here is the background on this release. Bay Area residents accustomed to excellent customer service may expect immediate results. Services that entail refreshing one's appearance can take either a short or long time. A haircut could offer an immediate improvement. A hair transplant may require several months to notice a difference. For these reasons, SVHI has added new content to the hair transplant "before and after" hair loss webpage. As individual results can vary, the best course of action is to book a no-obligation consultation.
