In making the announcement, Warren Lynn, founder and president of American Air & Water, said he is extremely pleased to have this new association with the Israeli based global leader in air purification solutions.

Lynn said Aura Air's award-winning air purification technology filters indoor air while simultaneously detecting pollutants and destroying 99.9% of viruses and bacteria through its patented 4-stage purification process. It has been effectively tested against air tainted by SARS-CoV-2 particles across different variants.

AIR PURIFIERS VITAL TO KEEPING PUBLIC SPACES SAFE

"As more people return to indoor workplaces, children head back to school, and hospitality venues re-open indoors, highest quality air purifiers are now a vital part of keeping public spaces safe," said Lynn. "It's obvious the need for safe indoor air will only intensify as waves of new variants appear, and those responsible for enclosed public spaces who do not take this seriously will fall behind.

"Without question we believe the Aura Air Purifier is the highest performing product of its kind at accessible price points, and with its Aura Web Platform the company offers a trusted solution to help keep air safe and healthy in a seamless and intuitive way," said Lynn. "Over time Aura Air purifiers will prove a valuable asset and solution for a tremendously broad array of facilities and businesses.”

AURA AIR PURIFIERS USE PATENTED TECHNOLOGY

The Aura Air Purifier uses two patented methods, a Sterionizer™ and a copper-laced, high-efficiency particulate air filter as well as UVC light. The Sterionizer is an improved ionizer which works by circulating negative ions in the air to initiate a process that destroys the sickness-causing viruses. The purifier also includes a patented detection system that allows the air quality of any room where it's installed to be monitored from a central location.
