

The Intersection of Real Estate and Technology at The Abrahamic Business Circle Investment Summit

The Intersection of Real Estate and Technology creates a compelling landscape for investment Dr. Raphael Nagel

DUBAI, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES, January 26, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Abrahamic Business Circle will get us thinking about the future of real estate with the panel: "Real Estate and Technology: The Future of Investment Opportunities.".

This panel, which aims to be the CES-of-real-estate, will bring together the very best and brightest entrepreneurs, VCs, and forward-leaning industry players for learning and networking, to catalyze this dynamic sector.

Content at the panel will focus on key issues in real estate and technology, including the future of offices; tech-enabled tools to transform brokerages; fintech and insurtech to streamline the single-family transaction; proptech's role in environmental sustainability; tech tools that promote affordability and much, much more.

Dr. Raphael Nagel, founder and chairman of The Abrahamic Business Circle, and renowned investor said "he hopes legacy real estate companies will get better at moving quickly to adopt new tech and connect systems and departments that were once siloed."

He told us: "Technology is something that protects and leaders need to be thinking about in terms of what systems can work together, integrate and give you a more comprehensive view - taking the features of one technology and another technology. Invest in technology that is adaptable and scalable to whatever the world brings."
