kitchen is the heart of the home. We're pleased that Dovetail Brands and Ambassador Enterprises will help continue our family legacy for years to come,” Carnahan said.

“Our number one goal was to ensure this 75-year-old business continues on. We wanted to find a local buyer who was familiar with Grabill Cabinets and deeply connected to the area. Someone most interested in continuing what was started, who truly cared about Grabill's employees. We've found that buyer—Ambassador Enterprises, a local legacy-minded private equity firm.”

Heiny added.

Seth Nash, CEO of Dovetail Brands, said, “The best cabinetry in America is built here in northeast Indiana. We're thrilled that the Grabill team will continue its legacy of excellence as part of Dovetail Brands. With Grabill and Dutch Made, we bring together two nationally-recognized brands with unmatched capability."

As a long-standing, quality employer with over 130 employees, Grabill Cabinets is a vital member of the Grabill community and reflects Ambassador's commitment to northeast Indiana. "We are grateful for the opportunity to retain local ownership of this business," states Nash. "We're pleased that all employees were provided the option to remain with Grabill Cabinets and that its key leaders, Martin Heiny and David Carnahan, will remain with the company. We're hiring in both companies, and we're excited about growing to serve our customers better."
