

EDRM Announces PC Forensics as Newest Partner

MINNEAPOLIS, MN, USA, February 1, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Setting the global standards for e-discovery, the Electronic Discovery Reference Model (EDRM) is pleased to announce PC Forensics, a US based business advisory and expert services firm, as its newest partner

“PC Forensics was founded by serial entrepreneur David Greetham, our long-time executive advisor for EDRM,” said Mary Mack, CEO and Chief Legal Technologist at EDRM. “David is an eight-time patent holder, consultant and sought-after expert witness. We are excited to share his journey.”

I have personally worked with David Greetham for over a decade, he is a brilliant eDiscovery and forensics expert having worked on many of the most important global cases.”

Kaylee Walstad, chief strategy officer at EDRM

“I have personally worked with David Greetham for over a decade, he is a brilliant eDiscovery and forensics expert having worked on many of the most important global cases,” said Kaylee Walstad, chief strategy officer at EDRM. “David is always looking for the best, most cost-effective solution for his clients with the highest level of care and service.”

“I am excited to continue my journey with the EDRM, and in particular, stay connected with EDRM’s amazing leadership. Culturally we are aligned, and that is a huge factor to me,” said David Greetham, CEO and founder of PC Forensics.

Among the EDRM opportunities and resources available to partners such as PC Forensics, are the ability to connect and network via events, share their services and offerings, and enhance brand awareness to a global community, comprising the most knowledgeable, multidisciplinary professionals contributing to enhance e-discovery, privacy, security and information governance frameworks, processes and standards

This partnership provides PC Forensics access to the global EDRM community, comprising 33% corporations, 30% law firms and 23% software and service providers in 136 countries spanning six continents.

“My goal is to provide reliable, transparent and accurate information at a client’s time of need, while maintaining professionalism, integrity and expertise,” stated David Greetham. “Forensics by its nature can intrude into the personal and I am highly attuned to my clients’ privacy and cost concerns.
