

Iran: Regime Broadcasting Organization's monitoring system, 25 TV channels disrupted

Hundreds of national radio stations, provincial and local city television stations were also on "critical alert" status and on the verge of shutting down.

PARIS, FRANCE, February 1, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Hundreds of national radio channels, provincial and local TV stations were critically disrupted and their audio, video, or transmission was cut off, according to a statement issued by the People's Mojahedin Organization of Iran (PMOI/MEK). In addition, control sheets show more than 2,000 "critical" warnings on regime radio and TV stations,

The screenshot displays a web-based monitoring interface for the Islamic Republic of Iran Broadcasting (IRIB). It features a table with columns for channel names, frequencies, and status indicators. The interface is in Persian and includes navigation elements like search bars and filters. The table lists various national television channels, many of which are marked with red indicators, suggesting they are in a 'critical alert' or disrupted state. The interface also shows a date and time stamp, indicating the data was captured on Thursday, January 27, 2022.

The "comprehensive monitoring" system for the "Islamic Republic of Iran Broadcasting (IRIB)" clearly shows that as of Thursday afternoon, January 27, 2022, the uplink feed from 25 national television channels completely shut off.

Hundreds of national radio stations, provincial and local city television stations were also on "critical alert" status and on the verge of shutting down.

It is well known that the IRIB is one of the most heavily budgeted and highly sensitive organizations for the clerical regime, and the regime utilizes this organization alongside the IRGC, the intelligence services, and the State Security Force for suppression and censorship. The organization also serves to export fundamentalism and spread terrorism abroad alongside the Quds Force.

This latest report follows a recent disruption of state TV and radio channels on Thursday, January 27, that resulted in the broadcasting of footage of Iranian Resistance leader Massoud Rajavi, and Mrs. Maryam Rajavi, the President-elect of the Iranian opposition coalition National Council of Resistance of Iran (NCRI). That disruption has raised outrage and grave concerns among the regime's official and state media outlets.

According to the "Comprehensive Monitoring" system, as can be seen in the chart above, the red bars on the right in each block of the chart and the small red icons, "PID Loss" indicate the complete disconnection of TV channels 1, 2, 3, 4, Tehran, News, Education, Quran, Documentary, Namayesh, Ofogh, iFilm, Press TV, Nahal via Pouya, Salamat, Nasim, Tamasha, Omid, Sepehr, HD documentary, Varzesh (Sport), Iran Kala, Varzesh (Sport) HD, Ch.3 HD, and Shoma network.

The chart below also shows that the uplink for 20 TV channels out of 25 channels on Badr satellite was also cut off and only one channel, iFilm, was not completely cut off, although that too suffered from PID Loss. Four HD channels, Channel 3, Tamasha, documentary, and sports were in an unknown state.

IRIB "Comprehensive monitoring" charts show a total of more than two thousand cases of "critical" warnings on the regime's national, provincial and local radio and television stations in different parts of the country on Thursday afternoon, January 27, 2022. These charts, samples of which are copied below, show the uplink status on each channel.

The entire report has been made available to the Security and Counter-Terrorism Committee of Thursday's blows inflicted on the clerical regime's radio and television system, used for oppression and censorship, were so extensive that after four days, the networks have still not been reinstated to normal operation. It is therefore understandable why according to the IRGC's affiliated media, Javan, on January 29, they refer to the disruptions as "complicated," "unprecedented," "completely extraordinary and unbelievable."
