The Story Of Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing

Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing began as the ambition of a disabled veteran. Having met the obligations to defend the country, the decision was made to help grow the economy by assisting businesses to increase sales. That idea led to a company that now boasts a staff with over 50 years of combined experience in the marketing sector of the business industry.

Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing got into business toward the end of the purely physical era of marketing when digital was on the horizon but had not yet proven itself. Focusing on direct mail marketing taught the young company critical lessons about data acquisition, management, and curating. Those lessons proved a boon when digital marketing finally blossomed, and companies struggled to master it. Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing took all its data-based experience. It used to make an early, easy transition to digital marketing techniques enjoying an early mover advantage that carried on to its clients.

Now, Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing has greatly expanded its operating range. From its initial service area in the hometown of Las Vegas, Nevada, the company now serves the entire United States, including both Alaska and Hawaii. It also offers clients marketing opportunities throughout the continent with databases for those wishing to enter the Canadian or Mexican markets. And for businesses or groups that want to go truly international, the databases cross the Atlantic and grant access to European Union nations like France.

The Crisis Continues

The pandemic has caused numerous businesses throughout the USA to either downsize to survive or shut down entirely as challenges like lockdowns, logistical difficulties, and sick employees interfere with operations. As a result, people out of jobs and unable to satisfy basic necessities are at a much higher rate in the country than in past years.

Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing has always supported charity groups, and this initiative has become even more critical in the pandemic period. As basic needs are not met, more demand from food banks has created a strain. Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing has already helped over 145 food bank operations in the previous year alone to raise the capital they needed to be able to hit the quotas and ensure that unfortunate Americans who have become economic casualties of the pandemic were able to feed themselves and their families as they rise to the challenge of overcoming these obstacles.

Food Bank Donors For Local Food Banks

Large to Small Donors with multiple donor experiences available in this database

While actual donations of food to food banks will always be an important component of operations, the administration, logistics, and management of food banks still require a significant financial investment. This is where the general public, willing to make monetary donations, and high net worth individuals interested in donating to food-bank causes can be crucial to these groups' continued functioning. Depending on the location, or even the time of year, appealing to companies, the public, or high net worth active donors can result in major contributions to keep food banks operating at critical periods to help Americans get back on their feet.

Finding The Right Donor

Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing has years of extensive experience gathering and maintaining food bank donor lists. These lists cover a broad range of different client requirements, first and foremost being geographical. Comprehensive lists are available if a client wants to hit a specific region, such as the states in America's "breadbasket" area, or a particular state, such as North Dakota. If there's a need to approach donors in a specific town or city within a state, that more precise targeted listing is also available.

However, Sprint Data Solutions Worldwide Marketing also offers groups and organizations based on demographic needs. Donors for food banks come from all walks of life, with different faiths and economic classes. If a client is interested in appealing to a specific religion, such as primarily approaching Christian or Jewish donors, a particular ethnicity, such as Latin American or African American, or even a distinct economic class, these demographic categorizations can be provided.

Contact details can be made available based on need. For direct mail, physical mailing addresses can be accessed. Digital marketing can use email addresses on request, while telemarketing can get phone numbers. Even cellular phone numbers are available for campaigns based on SMS/text marketing techniques.

Some clients may be interested in direct management of a direct mail campaign but are uncertain about doing so due to a lack of experience. For these clients, turnkey direct mail solutions are on offer. This is a guided process through every step of a direct mail campaign, from conception to design to manufacturing and distribution. It all takes place in-house, with no need to outsource additional vendors or services.
