

Seasons

Winter, Spring, Summer, and Fall...It's What Matter Most To You and Me

TUCSON, ARIZONA, UNITED STATES, February 3, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Susan L. Torricellas has published her book of nature collected poems titled Seasons. The book shows Susan's love of nature and hope. It helps her as it has given her after the death of her husband. Some of the poems were written from 2021 to 2020. She feels inspired and content watching the cows across the road and sitting by the creek that flows through her property.
Nature poems have helped her throughout her life, and it gives her a sense of peace.

The book features the four seasons as concepts of the nature poem: first, Winter with the title of poems like A chill was in the air, Climate Change, and others. Secondly, Spring with the title of poems like There is something about Spring, Pretty Little Flower, and others. Then, Summer with the title of poems like A Summer Afternoon, Beautiful Clear Day, and others. Lastly, Fall with the title of poems like I Watch the Creek, A Hand from Above, and others.

“A chill was in the air yesterday, breezes ruffled my hair, I love to read and write, sit outside, cabin fever, send me
here!!!”

Excerpts from A chill was in the air from Seasons.

Susan L. Torricellas is a 77-year-old widow, one of six
