“School was an unhappy place for Dan. He found no success or support from anyone. He has only himself to blame, yet I desperately hoped for a miracle person to come, one who would care enough.”

Excerpt from A Gift Is for Giving by Marilyn Wickstrom.

Wickstrom hopes this book proves to be practical to everyone who reads it. Many of her classroom activities were successful, and she formulates the best practices she learned along the way. “I love reading this book! It was such a joy! This book would be great for a parent with a gifted child, an adult that was gifted as a child, gifted and classroom teachers alike, and homeschool parents. Wonderful and creative information on teaching and understanding children...This book was able to keep my attention. Marilyn has a beautiful way with words that flow so well together as you read. Her writing is positive, and she explains and writes in a way that is very expressive and understandable.

You can tell the author took great joy in writing this book...” — Amazon Customer Review.

Marilyn Wickstrom is now a retired teacher having spent 27 years in the profession in Florida. Throughout her teaching career, she has been nominated for Teacher of the Year as well as
