

Fi-Med Management Announces revealMD RAF

revealMD RAF identifies HCC gaps in just four clicks and supports the transition from fee-for-service to value-based care

BROOKFIELD, WI, USA, February 4, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Fi-Med Management, trusted experts in the fields of financial healthcare management, compliance and risk assessment, and chronic care management, today announced the launch of its new data analytics tool, revealMD RAF. This cloud-based analytics application is specifically designed for organizations transitioning from Fee-for-Service to Value-Based Care. In just four clicks, the tool can discover all gaps in the commonly used Hierarchical Condition Category (HCC) coding—with corresponding revenue potential. Results include improved efficiencies, effectiveness, patient care outcomes, and revenue growth.

revealMD RAF represents the company's latest innovation, as part of the revealMD suite of offerings developed to assist hospital systems, ACOs, and medical groups in understanding and addressing revenue opportunities. revealMD RAF is designed to enable healthcare organizations to review 100% of their Provider/Patient data immediately and quickly identify the gaps in care with just a few clicks. It saves time and resources by quickly identifying coding outliers so they can spend time training and monitoring Providers to reinforce documentation.

"revealMD RAF was developed in partnership with our healthcare clients to provide a way to address their risk-based contracts. Value-based care is the future, and we see healthcare organizations struggling to find where they can take action to support their revenue goals," said Adrian Velasquez, President and CEO at Fi-Med Management. "That's what we have achieved with revealMD RAF."
