DEA Agent turned NY Times Best-Selling author, Robert Mazur, is set to release his next book "The Betrayal."

TAMPA, FL, UNITED STATES, February 4, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- DEA Agent turned NY Times Best-Selling author, Robert Mazur, is set to release his next book "The Betrayal." Mazur's first book, "The Infiltrator," detailed his undercover journey into Pablo Escobar's Medellin Cartel and the dirty banks that laundered Escobar's fortunes. The Infiltrator was the basis for the internationally released film by the same name, starring Bryan Cranston.

His new book, "The Betrayal", details a covert operation he carried out 3 years after the events of "The Infiltrator", at a time when the drug kingpins exposed in his first deep cover assignment had issued a half-million-dollar bounty on his head. In this second undercover assignment, using a new covert identity to infiltrate Colombia's Cali Cartel and underworld figures in Panama, he was nearly killed at the hands of corruption within his own department.

The Betrayal takes the reader on a suspenseful underworld journey of real-life events, an experience that opens eyes to the corruption and brutality of organized criminal organizations so powerful that they control countries.

Mazur, a court-certified expert in drug trafficking and money laundering, is one of the world's leading authorities on money laundering techniques. He regularly trains thousands of private sector and government professionals tasked in the fight against money laundering and drug trafficking.
