The global market is primarily driven by the increasing participation of individuals in recreational activities and sports, including baseball. Apart from this, growing investments by key players to manufacture premium and superior quality baseball equipment have also provided an impetus to the market growth across the globe. Moreover, the rising occurrence of several baseball tournaments in numerous countries is further providing a boost to the market growth. Some of the other factors contributing to the market growth include the increasing preference for maintaining an active lifestyle among individuals and easy availability of product variants through online and offline organized retail channels. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the global baseball equipment market to exhibit moderate growth during the next five years.
