Furthermore, promising results obtained from clinical trials is expected to augment the tapentadol market growth in the near future. Currently, the regulatory authorities have approved tapentadol only for consumption by adults and is not prescribed for children due to its high therapeutic efficacy. However, one in three clinical trials are subjected to pediatric use. Grünenthal GmbH is carrying out an open-label trial, enrolling subjects aged 6 years to 18 years, which is estimated to be completed in December 2018. Another trial by St. Olavs Hospital is for pre- and post-operative pain relief after primary knee arthroplasty with estimated study completion year 2021.

Tapentadol is also used for other applications and has been found to be the safest and the first-line of treatment choice for advanced chronic kidney disease.
