About BBB Accredited Rehab Designation

Businesses earning prestigious BBB Accreditation indicates that they are trustworthy and reputable. Such businesses have been revised and passed a rigorous examination from the Better Business Bureau and are known for business ethics and integrity. A recent study by Iron Monk Solutions found that Americans value an A+ BBB rating more than a 5-star rating on Google, Facebook, and Yelp.

Ryan Zofay also stated “We are proud to be a fully BBB accredited business as we value building trust with our customers. Our “A” rated BBB Accreditation gives our customers confidence in our commitment to maintaining the highest standards of ethics and professional conduct which are aligned with our core values.”

Only a small percentage of treatment centers in the addiction rehabilitation space have qualified as a BBB accredited rehab and treatment services business. Let alone, have also earned the coveted “A” ranking. Accredited businesses must adhere to the “Standards of Trust”, a comprehensive set of policies, procedures, and best practices representing trustworthiness in the marketplace. The standards call for building trust, embodying integrity, advertising honestly and telling the truth, being transparent, honoring promises, being responsive, and safeguarding privacy.

You can help someone experiencing depression by simply being there for them to listen and to support.

Finding An Accredited Addiction Treatment Center

Finding an accredited drug and alcohol rehab center is critical when seeking out support for yourself or a loved one. The Joint Commission (JCAHO) provides among the most elevated tier of accreditation typically obtained in the substance abuse and mental health treatment sector.

Discovering quality substance abuse programs can be complicated and troublesome. It's an investment in a worthwhile future for your health and safety. So why not make sure the treatment offered is truly professional & effective before admitting.

The Joint Commission, which was earlier known as the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO), provides their seal of approval only to particular addiction rehab centers that satisfy their policies and benchmarks for high-quality care.
