WASHINGTON, DC, UNITED STATES, February 8, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ --

The US Institute of Diplomacy and Human Rights will host the Youth Summit in Istanbul, Turkey from April 1-4th. The summit will allow young people to work on real projects with non-profit organizations, attend keynote sessions from industry experts, network, and get the chance to be certified as a Human Rights Leader by USIDHR. This is an important event that provides international youth advocates with the opportunity to learn more about human rights and how they can make a difference in their communities. Certification as a human rights leader is an invaluable asset that can help these young people further their work in promoting human rights around the world.

The entire USIDHR team is so excited about the Youth Summit, it has been highly requested and a long-term goal for us, as the pandemic has restricted our ability to run in-person events.”

USIDHR*

Activists, advocates, humanitarians, officials, and diplomats are expected to attend the highly expected event organized by the Washington D.C.-based think organization. Young leaders 18-35 years old are invited to submit their application on the event website to be considered for one of the 5 fully-funded scholarships by February 20th, 2022. These individuals will be selected based on their financial situation and based on work they have already undertaken in their communities or internationally. The aim is for attendees to leave with new knowledge, new skills, and access to new networks to propel their careers forwards.

General attendees older than 35 and self-funded youth delegates are encouraged to select one of the packages that include accommodation or non-accommodation, which are available on the event website. The summit organizers are also seeking potential partnerships with benefits including company logos on promotional materials, videos, and access to more events. If you are interested in becoming a partner please email info@usidhr.org

When asked about the Youth Summit, Isabelle Vladioiu, founder at USIDHR said 'The entire USIDHR team is so excited about the Youth Summit, it has been highly requested and a long-term goal for us, as the pandemic has restricted our ability to run in-person events.
