LONDON, GREATER LONDON, UK, February 8, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Growing technological advancements are shaping the delivery drones market. The delivery drones market outlook changed over the past few years; drones have become extremely prevalent as many individuals and organizations are completely accepting and incorporating this technology into their business models. For instance, Wing, the drone shipping firm operated by Google's parent company Alphabet, became the first US organization to receive permission from the Federal Aviation Authority (FAA) to start testing deliveries. It has collaborated with Walgreens that has a store across 78% of the area of the country within 5 miles reach, which means that almost 80% of the US will be in the range of Wing shipments if and when the technology is more extensively deployed.

The global delivery drone market size is expected to grow from $1.26 billion in 2021 to $1.47 billion in 2022 at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 17.3%. The growth in the market is mainly due to the companies resuming their operations and adapting to the new normal while recovering from the COVID-19 impact, which had earlier led to restrictive containment measures involving social distancing, remote working, and the closure of commercial activities that resulted in operational challenges. The delivery drone market is expected to reach $3.74 billion in 2026 at a CAGR of 26.2%.
