

Newvon Selected by Help at Home for Innovative Home Care Training Solutions

NEW YORK, NY, USA, February 8, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Newvon, an innovative home and health care training technology company, announced that it is deploying its training platform to Help at Home, a leading national provider of in-home, person-centered care for seniors and people with disabilities.

Newvon was selected through an extensive RFP process to provide caregiver compliance and enhanced training required by certain states in which Help at Home operates across the United States.

"We are thrilled to be working with an organization like Help at Home, that shares the same passion as we do," said James Cohen, CEO of Newvon. "We've developed Newvon's innovative training solutions for health outcome driven providers who understand the impact training has to positively impact health outcomes."

As the largest provider of home care in the country, technology is an integral part of our digital transformation strategy for e-learning," said Help at Home's Chief People Officer Priscilla Messir. "Partnering with Newvon through its innovative training platform will help us to standardize and integrate our learning management system to ensure our 30,000 caregivers across the country receive the training, ongoing learning and support resources they need to help their clients have Great Days and Meaningful Moments every day."
