CrafterCMS's growing user base of enterprise companies, government organizations, and high-growth startup companies.

The CrafterCMS Marketplace features a wide range of high-quality plugins and website blueprints, ranging from enterprise websites, a Gatsby-based blog, live and on-demand video streaming portals, corporate microsites, and headless commerce applications. These plugins and blueprints streamline the process of launching new websites and digital experience apps for enterprises and agencies by allowing no-code/low-code website development.

“Our Marketplace makes it possible to assemble new digital experiences of all kinds quicker and easier than ever before, in most cases with no coding at all,” said Russ Danner, VP of Products at CrafterCMS. “The CrafterCMS Marketplace enforces version control, making the contribution and maintenance of community-driven open source plugins easy, all while maintaining a high standard of quality and compatibility. The new chatbot plugins enable content and digital experience creators to easily incorporate interactive chatbot experiences into their CrafterCMS sites.”

Along with the plugins currently available, CrafterCMS expects many more to be released soon as its open source community and partner ecosystem is developing new integrations and features that make it easy for content authors and software developers to build engaging digital experiences with simple drag/drop experience building tools, and no-code/low-code operations. You can find the latest blueprints and plugins available on the CrafterCMS Marketplace located at <https://marketplace.craftercms.org>.
