“The CRRC is the gold standard for energy-efficient cool roofs, and we will now be able to provide our clients with the most advanced roofing solutions that can save money while also reducing their carbon footprint.”

-Cary Rich

As a member of CRRC, RRG Roofing will be able to provide cool roof solutions for residential and commercial properties throughout Georgia, and North Carolina. A cool roof reflects more sunlight and absorbs less heat than a standard roof, so it stays cooler in the summer and helps reduce the amount of air conditioning needed inside buildings. With this type of roofing system, you can save money on air conditioning costs, reduce peak cooling demand by 10–15 percent, lower carbon emissions by an equivalent amount and prolong the life of the underlying roofing material.

Not only does being a member of the CRRC allow us access to cooler roofing educational materials, but it also allows us access to specialized training courses and resources that other roofing contractors do not have access to. These extra resources allow us to provide better service and products for our customers.

At RRG Roofing, it's important for us to stay up to date with the latest trends in the roofing industry as well as new roofing technology and materials available to help improve roofing systems. Our acceptance into the CRRC continues our goal of providing the best service possible for our customers, including only using products approved by the CRRC.

If you're looking for more information about the CRRC or cool roofs in general, feel free to reach out to us at any time! We're happy to answer your questions and walk you through our process.
