

The Middle East's First-Ever NFT Collaboration & Collection to Merge Fashion with Environmental Consciousness

Boredpuma joins forces with Splash Fashions to create groundbreaking Celestial Collection, cementing position as the first company to release NFT in the region

UAE, February 10, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Created in 2019 to bring together artists, visionary ideas, evolving technology, and the virtual world, Boredpuma announces the launch of the Celestial Collection, a highly anticipated collaboration with Splash Fashions.

As an award-winning, sustainability-focused & forward-thinking fashion label, Splash stands out as the ideal collaborator in this project, fusing technology and fashion-driven art.

The collection is recognized as the first-ever NFT collection & collaboration of its kind in the Middle East, fortifying the future of NFTs, the Metaverse, and beyond.

The groundbreaking virtual collection features concepts of sustainability and fashion with concept art created by Jong Sacil. The artwork will highlight the mask of a 'puma' with collaborative efforts to develop future characters within the Metaverse.

The Celestial Collection is comprised of characters whose designs represent the celestial bodies in our universe and are inspired by the elements; the sun, moon, planets, stars, constellations, and more.

Character designs pull inspiration from mangas and anime, symbolizing the graphic elements and featuring a Y2K aesthetic. The samurai sword defines each characters' identity with compelling artwork and unique designs. Future projects within the collection will include 3D avatars, with masks acting as the symbolic trait that combines fashion with 'Gen2' Puma Punks. This phase will allow the collaboration to move into the Metaverse.

Once an NFT collaboration purchase is executed, members gain access to benefits, including a digital access card, which allows entrance into the inner circle of fashion shows, future projects, and the ability to mint and purchase during pre-sale. All NFT collection holders will be given a Discord 'Splash' badge and rank up by being an active member to reach the OG rank of 'Celestial.'

The Boredpuma X Splash collaboration includes 3D card collections, game development, a fully developed and semi-dystopian storyline: "The Celestials," immersive audio and visual experience that features original soundtracks and unique elements to the Celestial Collection, 3D environments, 3D character creation, and VR characters that will become part of the collection's world. And this is only the beginning.
