2021 may have seen many disruptions in the economy, but the sale of Private Pension products at H&A rose by 241% last year. On a dollar basis, clients spent nearly 5 times as much in 2021 as they did in 2020.

These little-known vehicles for building tax-free accumulation offer tax-free income and annual growth at market rates. While many securities representatives may be able to sell these products, investors should only deal with advisors who are experts in designing and issuing these investments.

Harris & Associates has helped clients since 1992 with these special vehicles for tax-free accumulation. The owner of a Private Pension product may draw tax-free income during their lifetime or pass the value on as a tax-free inheritance if they choose.

People may learn more about how a Private Pension product might be a part of their long-term accumulation strategy by contacting a Wealth Advisor.
