SHERIDAN, WYOMING, UNITED STATES, February 11, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- According to the latest report by IMARC Group "Eye Health Supplements Market: Global Industry Trends, Share, Size, Growth, Opportunity and Forecast 2021-2026", The global eye health supplements market exhibited moderate growth during 2015-2020. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the global market to grow at a CAGR of around 6% during the forecast period (2021-2026).

Eye health supplements assist in preserving vision and maintaining overall eye health. They also minimize the risk of cataracts, age-related macular degeneration (AMD) and other vision disorders, which may lead to partial or complete blindness. They comprise nutrients like essential fatty acids that are beneficial for proper visual and retinal function. As a result, their demand is escalating across the globe.

Market Trends:

Significant hours spent on computers, tablets, and smartphones are increasing the risk of developing computer vision syndrome (CVS) and myopia. This, along with the growing geriatric population, is positively influencing the sales of eye health supplements worldwide. Apart from this, the increasing awareness among individuals about the alternatives available for preventing different eye conditions is also fueling the growth of the market. Furthermore, governing agencies of various countries are investing in clinical studies to improve the understanding of nutrients on eye health. This is anticipated to offer lucrative opportunities to market players.
