

Rare Michael Jordan, Kobe Bryant Basketball Card Hits The Market

Offered is the very first dual on-card autograph and game-worn jersey, which pairs Kobe Bryant and Michael Jordan together on an iconic Upper Deck card.

HOUSTON, TX, UNITED STATES, February 15, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A rare 2000-01 Upper Deck Game Jersey Combo Michael Jordan and Kobe Bryant dual autograph card is currently on offer in the PWCC February Premier Auction. This historic card is the very first dual jersey, autographed set ever made. The card is graded by BGS (Beckett Grading Services) at a 8 NM-MT (Near Mint to Mint) with a Population 1 of 1 with only one other in the world graded higher. The seller of the card notes that like the few matchups they had in the NBA, these two legends rarely met on an Upper Deck product, and when they have, desirability and investment value multiply exponentially.

The PWCC auction description notes that the card is “the single most desirable card one could pull from the [Series 2] issue. Serial stamped 09/10 in the bottom right, the card is encapsulated within a Beckett 8 holder and presents beautiful eye appeal throughout. Two remarkable player photos are used, capturing the intensity that both legends brought to the hardcourt. The game-worn material embedded within are solid colors, being Bulls’ red and Lakers’ purple. In addition, the signatures presented are struck directly on the card, penned in blue ink, and assessed as MINT by Beckett.”

When asked for more details about the card’s overall desirability, PWCC noted the limited nature of the issue and overall design as specific points of interest.

“This is a rare opportunity to own the first dual autographed patch card of Michael Jordan and Kobe Bryant, of which only 10 exist in the world,” said Jesse Craig, Director of Business Development for PWCC Marketplace. “And while the allure of having Michael Jordan and Kobe Bryant autographs and game-used jerseys on a card together is obvious, this card can also be
