Responsive Schools, a leader in educational development, has released its schedule of four-day Responsive Classroom institutes, including on-site and virtual courses. From April through August, courses will be offered in 36 locations throughout the United States and virtually in four time zones, including Singapore Standard Time and Central European Summer Time.

Responsive Classroom is a set of well-designed practices intended to create safe, joyful and engaging classrooms and school communities. For 40 years, Responsive Classroom has empowered K–8 educators by giving them the skills they need to ensure a high-quality education for all students.

"We are pleased to offer in-person institutes this summer, in addition to our virtual courses," Karen Poplawski, chief programs officer for Responsive Classroom, said. "We are excited to connect with fellow educators and help them create optimal learning environments for student success."

Responsive Classroom summer institutes are open to all K–8 teachers, specialists and administrators. Four-day summer institutes are available for the following courses: Elementary Core Course, Elementary Advanced Course, Middle School Core Course and Middle School Advanced Course. Course descriptions, schedules and registration can be found at <https://www.responsiveclassroom.org/courses/institutes/>.
