Gorilla Netting won a contract with The First Tee of Atlanta and Asque's Construction to extend the driving range netting system at The First Tee of Atlanta, now The First Tee of Metro Atlanta.

The extension of the golf netting system was completed in a few days by Gorilla Netting, a Florida-based netting contractor. Adding 50-feet in length and continuing the 90-foot-high netting system already in place. This project was a part of a larger renovation project undertaken at the John A. White Golf Course.

With rising technological advances in the golfing industry, the need to contain balls of play, or at minimum, deflect and protect to mitigate the injury to patrons and passersby or
