JOHANNESBURG , SOUTH AFRICA,
February 19, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/
-- The Banxso Group today announced the launch of its new South African exchange, Banxso.com, scheduled for April 1st, 2022. The launch marks the first of four international launches around the world.

Banxso.com, aimed at younger, more digital-savvy South African millennials with broad investment portfolio needs, offers investors a fresh new approach to online investing. Unlike more traditional exchange platforms, investors will be able to trade stocks, commodities, indices, forex, CFDs, and cryptocurrencies under one Banxso account – with the added bonus of no commission fees on trades.

“We’re really excited. We have a very busy year ahead of us with four international launches. The beginning is the most important part of this work; we have invested thousands of hours into making sure that this launch goes smoothly,” said Mohammed Bux, Director at the Banxso Group.

Banxso.com is a subsidiary of The Banxso Group, an international holding group, which plans to launch three further local trading websites in 2022 (launch dates to be announced). All four exchanges, expected to be fully operational by timeframe, will be fully regulated:

- Banxso.com in South Africa, regulated by the FSCA

- Banxso.eu in EU member states, regulated by CySEC
- Banxso.co.uk in the United Kingdom, regulated by the FCA
- Banxso.ae in the Arab Emirates, regulated by the DFSA

The group also holds licenses in Seychelles, Mauritius and Saint Vincent & Grenadines.

“Our ultimate aim is to make investing as fun as it can be profitable without eating into profits by taking commissions at every step and disappearing when they need support,” added Bux. “As our slogan says, we’re not your grandfather’s bank. We’re here to help our investors build a secure future with a secure account that covers all their investment needs.”
