-- According to the latest report by IMARC Group, titled "Hardwood Flooring Market: Global Industry Trends, Share, Size, Growth, Opportunity and Forecast 2021-2026", the global hardwood flooring market reached a value of US$ 43.4 Billion in 2020. Looking forward, IMARC Group expects the market to grow at a CAGR of 4.5% during 2021-2026. Hardwood flooring is manufactured using real wood and preserves the unique appearance and texture of the wood. It is highly durable in nature, convenient to install and requires little to no routine maintenance. In recent years, hardwood flooring has gained immense popularity as it is easier to repair and refinish than laminate flooring and can be recycled without causing any damage to the environment.

Market Trends:

Nowadays, manufacturers are introducing advanced technologies to offer high-performance hardwood flooring. This represents the primary factor bolstering the market growth. Besides this, hardwood flooring has zero VOC emissions and uses adhesives that are free from formaldehyde. As a result, consumers opt for hardwood flooring as it assists in making them safer than other types of flooring. Moreover, the rising number of construction projects of residential spaces and the development of advanced infrastructural facilities are contributing to the increasing sales of these floorings. On account of these factors, the market is anticipated to witness positive growth in the upcoming years. □
