Key insights presented in the report:

In June 2019, Givaudan opened a new center for innovation in Switzerland. The workspace is spread over 12,000 square kilometers.

Oxidation level for Oolong tea leaves varies from 8% to 85%, which plays an important role in the taste. Some of the Oolong tea leaves, such as Se Chung, taste fruity and have aroma of honey.

Same as Oolong tea, green tea also has its origin in China. Alongside China, the plant is cultivated in India also. Green tea tastes similar to vegetables, as it has an organic taste.

North America is expected to dominate the global tea extracts market, due to high consumption of the premium range of tea extracts among people in the region
