“The Rich Dad Show, Stockcast, RichDad Cryptoverse and Millennial Money are attracting many new advertisers to our network, which in turn benefits our entire family of podcasters who are interested in running ads to monetize their work,” states Audivita Studios Founder and CEO David Wolf. “We place ads into all of our independent shows, even shows generating less than 5,000 streams per episode. It's an exciting time for our startup podcasters and content creators.”

Audivita Studios is actively seeking podcasters to join their network, which features robust analytics, the latest in social media sharing and integration tools and free hosting for in-house productions.
