Visitors to Decentraland will now be able to visit Outlier's office, and book meetings with one of the team members. Visitors can discuss their Canadian compliance needs on topics such as Canadian anti-money laundering (AML), counter terrorist financing (CTF), privacy, and regulatory compliance management. The Decentraland office is located at -39, 121, in the same neighbourhood as Decentraland University.

"The world, actual and virtual, is evolving rapidly" said Outlier's Founder and CEO, Amber D. Scott. "It's important to understand what shape that evolution is taking, and no better way to learn than to be involved directly." She adds, "It just makes sense that in order to be good advisors to companies operating in the metaverse, we would be there too."

Founder of Grinhaus Law Firm, Aaron Grinhaus, stated, “we are pleased to welcome Outlier Solutions Inc. and complement our line up of professional services to help people and businesses navigate the ‘gray areas’ and legitimize the existence of the metaverse.”

Decentraland, with its 800,000+ residents and $54B in transactions, is also home to a wide array of companies and institutions from academia to crypto companies to fashion. This represents an opportunity to strategically grow Outlier’s presence as well as participate in the booming growth and creation in the metaverse.
