Uniting Blockchain Projects in Easy-to-Use Metaverse

Polka City is an NFT-powered, chain-agnostic Metaverse. The Polka City platform solves the silo problem in blockchain by offering users a fun, user-friendly meta to access their favorite blockchain projects, from play to earn games to lending.

"The biggest problem in blockchain today is the high number of silos. Before Polka City, there was no convenient way for users to access their favorite blockchain projects in one integrated metaverse," explained Gregory Frank of Blockchain Research Partners. "A metaverse that brings together different worlds just makes sense."

Polka City has a robust economy, only gamified. Users may earn by playing their favorite games or borrowing from their favorite blockchain lenders to start their businesses. Meta-world businesses like virtual nightclubs will stream exclusive audio and video content to metaverse users worldwide. They may bid for advertising space or may build a portal to another metaverse.

Miami or The Metaverse

CWC 2022 will be held April 1-2, 2022, at the James L. Knight Center in Miami, Florida, and for users worldwide in the Polka City Metaverse.
