

Polyimide Film Market Forecast To Reach USD 4.29 Billion By 2028 Says Reports And Data

Surging demand from electrical & electronics industries is estimated to stimulate the market demand.

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, March 2, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The global polyimide film market is expected to reach USD 4.29 Billion by 2028, according to a new report by Reports and Data. Polyimides film are a kind of high-performance polymers films possessing a range of excellent properties, which allows them to be deployed in various end-user industries.

Reports And Data

Polyimide films are used as a buffer against the corona discharge effect, which dampens the performance of traction motors, generators, and transformers. It aids in improving performance in addition to the strength of traction motors and other integral components of the automotive system, thus propelling the market growth.

Polyimide films find widespread application to produce flexible printed circuits and pressure-sensitive tapes used in electronics, and aerospace industry owing to their ability to high-temperature resistance, they are widely used. These are also widely deployed for insulating wires and cables of motors and generators. These films allow the implementation of compact and complex assemblies which reduces size and weight, and as a result of their lightweight, they also find implementation in the insulation of the wires of aircrafts to offer significant weight savings.
