Showcasing the best and brightest foods, supplements, home and lifestyle products.

COMMACK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, March 3, 2022

/EINPresswire.com/ -- At this year's Natural Products Expo West's, held in Anaheim, California March 8 – 12, Botticelli will transport attendees to Sicily with a taste of its family-made sauces and Italian pantry goods.

Highlighting its sauces delicious enough to impress any Italian nonna, the family-owned company will be at Booth #1687.

The New York-based brand, owned by the Asaro family since its inception in 2002, is dedicated to jarring and bottling Italian products only from the farms and people of Italy. Botticelli is now currently run by the fourth generation of farmers and grocers from and in Sicily.

Today, Botticelli has expanded to National staple in grocery stores and supermarkets. Its product line includes 20 plus sauces for everyone's dinnertime needs, from classic tomato-based recipes made from closely monitored tomato farms in Italy to creamy alfredo, pesto and primavera; balsamic vinegars and jarred pantry goods like pre-made antipasti. All are made with the simplest, purest ingredients.

Regardless of its rapid expansion, Botticelli's close-knit team never sways from supporting growers in Italy to produce its pure, simple products delivered at an affordable price. Botticelli will not bottle any product without extensive quality reviews from its team of selective Italian tasters. By 2023, father-and-son team Salvatore and Joseph Asaro plan to have fully vertical integration on their farm and packing facility in Sicily.

Botticelli is available nationwide at a myriad of chain supermarkets and grocers, including Walmart, Publix, Albertsons, Safeway, Stop & Shop, ShopRite, Giant, Acme, Harris Teeter, Sam's

Club, and Several Other Banners Across the US.
