

Edinah Nyaboke Kangwana Receives iChange Nations™ Distinguished Leadership Award From Special Envoy Dr. Ruben West

Edinah Nyaboke Kangwana the Gusii Heroine Bags an ICN Global Award during Special Ceremony

NAIROBI COUNTY, WESTLANDS SUB COUNTY, KENYA, March 4, 2022 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Edinah Kangwana is transformational leader, a community development issues champion, a gender and youth advocate, a mentor, public speaker, an entrepreneurship professional, former banker and currently a Kisii County Executive Committee Member in charge of Administration, Corporate Services, and Stakeholder Management.

Dr juma Nashon, Amb. Winnie Joy, Distinguished Leadership Award Winner Edinah Kangwana, Barbara H. Smith, Dr Ruben West and Amb. Dominic Obadiah

On Saturday February 26th, Kangwana was awarded the prestigious iChange Nations™ Distinguished Leadership Award at an event held at the Kamel Park Hotel in Kisii, Kenya.

Every life is valuable and is created to bring a contribution to the world."

Sir. Dr. Clyde Rivers

This global award comes shortly after Ms. Kangwana was honored by the president of the Republic of Kenya HE. Uhuru Kenyatta during the 58th Jamhuri day celebrations with the Moran of the Burning Spear Award (MBS) for her outstanding leadership exhibited not only in her diligent execution of core mandate in public service but also going out of her way to serve and address community emerging issues.

Her spotlight came out during the 2020 Mashujaa celebrations in Kisii where she was the Chair of the Kisii planning committee. She diligently coordinated the two levels of Government and its stakeholders to excellently deliver the first-ever national celebrations to be held in Kisii county. She has been celebrated for her delegated center role in the emergency response to Covid- 19 pandemic and consequently its management.

In her tenure as the head of Trade, Tourism, and Industry, she made possible trade development linkages nationally and internationally opening up the thriving micro and SME sector that saw Kisii county control 61% of money circulation in Nyanza according to the CBK statistics. This laid ground for the opening of the CBK cash collection center in Kisii.

Her leadership drive gives her passion and zeal to serve community and address community emerging issues.

Ms. Kangwana says the deeper awaking to serve came when she was at the center of Covid-19 emergency response. She encountered community issues that called for civility in service including poverty, school drop-out, teenage pregnancies, early forced marriages and other many forms of gender based violence as well as health issues around reproductive and mental health. These issues, coupled with her experience growing up in an unequal poverty stricken background deep rooted in Patriarchy made her decide to take action.

Off her official duties, Ms. Kangwana attends grassroot community meetings(Bararas), visits learning institutions, Small Scale Traders, joins civil societies organizations and other stakeholders' planned programs to listen and give input.

She motivates students on the need to work hard and believe in their dreams. In the sessions, she shares her humble story growing up to encourage the young ones.

She donates sanitary care packages in a bid to address menstrual poverty. She uses the platform to engage teenagers on menstrual hygiene and reproductive health issues.

In the same platform she addresses teenage pregnancies, school drop outs, youth radicalization and drug use.

She has over 50 teenage mothers that she mentors. She has talked to thousands of students and visited over 100 schools within Kisii.

She has spearheaded programs to increase the forest cover. She has managed to plant over 100,000 trees in Kisii.

Recently she rallied and brought together different stakeholders to a blood donation drive to mark 2022 Valentine's Day in Kisii blood transfusion center.

Ms. Edinah is the founder of the role modeling initiative. This mentorship program was designed to call back alumni to their alma mater to tell the story of triumph to the young ones purposely to motivate them to keep alive their dreams.

She is the founder of KIINIA KE a community-based organization to address community development issues.
