Joyner Outdoor Media Proudly Announces the Publication of Ten to Life, Delirium Tales of a Covid-19 Survivor, By Mike Joyner

CORTLAND, NY, UNITED STATES, March 4, 2022
/EINPresswire.com/ -- Joyner Outdoor Media Proudly Announces the Publication of Ten to Life, Delirium Tales of a Covid-19 Survivor, By Mike Joyner

A Covid -19 journey into the abyss, a recollecting of Covid delirium, hallucinations from the far reaches of the mind created from what we consciously and subconsciously record of our five senses. Forty days were spent in four hospitals, from Syracuse, NY to Sayre, PA, the author was intubated eighteen days, sedated in an induced coma. Facing a ten percent chance of surviving it, he found himself in the fight for his life.

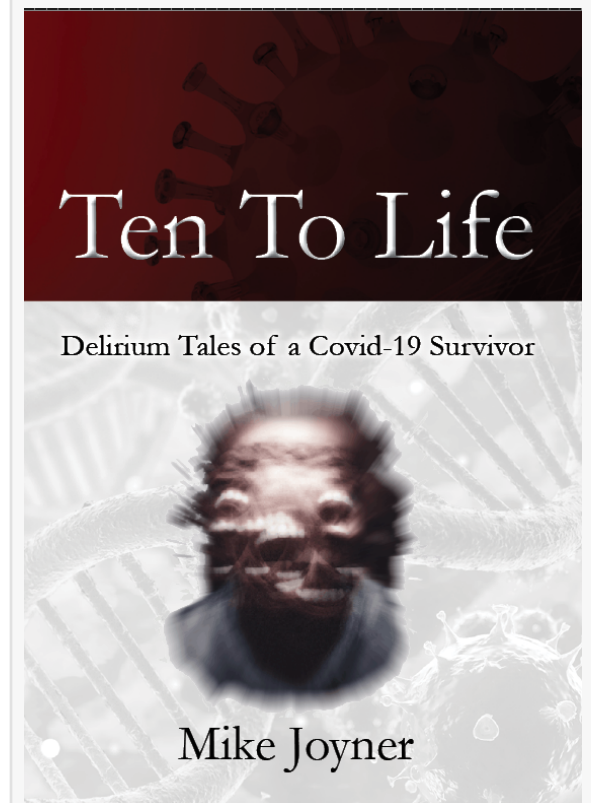

In his latest book, the author conveys the intensity of how Covid delirium magnifies our most primitive basic emotions. It is nearly paralyzing when fear, anger, regret, sense of loss is experienced during delirium.

To those I hope to reach, to the families that are mired in anguish as their loved ones suffer; I hope that my testimony and recollection of my experience provides some measure of hope, some comfort as we extend ourselves in solidarity. It is a bare and honest account of my Covid delirium. My perceived lifetimes jumped back and forth, yet I felt no disconnect. At no time while sedated did I question all that I experienced to be anything but real. Everything was in place no matter how fantastic or bizarre it may have appeared.—Mike Joyner
