Technology Partners VP of Digital Architecture, Greg Klausa, has been named as a 2022 Digi-Tech Innovator Award honoree by NJBIZ, New Jersey's leading business journal. Honorees will be recognized during a virtual awards ceremony on Thursday, March 31, 2022. The Digi-Tech award recognizes innovators who have demonstrated excellence in technology and leadership. These trailblazers represent a wide swath of industries from real estate to health care, to public relations to – of course – technology, and more. The awardees will be profiled in an event publication inserted in the April 11 issue of NJBIZ.

Greg leads and inspires our Aspire team where his keen insights, customer focus and technology expertise has helped our customers achieve digital transformation and innovation for their businesses.”

John C. Harris, Aspire President & CEO

As head of the Digital Architectures practice at Aspire, Greg is the driving force behind creating a cohesive strategy in designing creative transformational enterprise networking, collaboration, wireless, data center, cloud, and IoT solutions for business and education. He leads a team of solutions architects that evaluate Aspire's customers' needs, then creates innovative solutions and hybrid work strategies to reach their ultimate goals.

“Greg is a leader and inspiration to our Aspire team where his keen insights, customer focus and technology expertise has helped our customers achieve digital transformation and innovation for their businesses,” said John C. Harris, Aspire President & CEO. “Aspire is proud of Greg's work and we celebrate this award with him.”
